STEFANSSON CHOOSES AIDS FOR ARCTIC TRIP

Two of Shackleton's Scientists
Among Explorers to Go With Him.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, discoverer of the blond Eskimos, arrived yesterday by the American liner St. Paul from Europe, where he has been collecting instruments and picking men for his expedition to the polar regions to find new territory, which he believes exists, and more about the blond Arctic folk.

He will also explore the depths of Arctic waters to find the character of the bottom, the chemical composition of the water and investigate the animal and vegetable life on land and in the sea. "Canada will finance the expedition, which will cost $75,000."

Stefansson says the expedition will start from Esquimaux in the first week in June and will be gone about four years.

Among the men he has selected to help him in his quest for Arctic facts and marvels are James Murray, biologist of Glasgow, who was with Shackleton's Antarctic expedition; Dr. A. Forbes Mackay, surgeon for Shackleton; Henri Beuchat, specialist in American archaeology and ethnology; Dr. Edward James and Dr. R. M. Anderson, a chum of Stefansson's at college, and Dr. Fritz Johansen.

Stefansson says he hopes in the summer of 1914 to send back his ship, the steam whaler Korluk, commanded by Capt. C. T. Pedersen, who has had twenty years experience in Arctic waters.

He will take along a wireless outfit and believes that with it he may be able to keep in touch with the nearest Canadian wireless station.

He may not be able to get his wireless working this year, but believes he will next year.

He will take along no alcoholic stimulants for his party, but will take some to give to the whalers who may help the expedition. Some of them would much rather have a bottle of whiskey than money.

CHILDREN CHEER RED FLAG.

May Festival of Socialist Sunday Schools in Carnegie Hall.

The May day festival of the Socialist Sunday schools of New York was celebrated in Carnegie Hall yesterday afternoon.

A little boy in a sailor's costume danced a hornpipe; a wee bit of a girl, her hair streaming down her back, stood on the stage for ten minutes telling in blank verse how she hated injustice, gold and other things.

Half a dozen young people's choral societies sang songs about social freedom in every tongue of the East Side, and Algonquin Lee, the educational director of the Socialist school in New York, made a speech about the necessity of teaching the young what social justice means.

About 2,000 persons were present. Caruso never received more applause than greeted one little fellow in knee breeches who sang a Socialist parody on "Marching Through Georgia." It was an enthusiastic assemblage that remained seated from 2:30 until after the hour when most people eat dinner.

The Socialist Sunday schools began three years ago and now number fifty teachers, with about 3,000 pupils. Religion is not taught, but socialism.

A playlet called "The Flag of All Nations" was given. The girls and boys marched out one at a time bearing the flag of some nation. The last to appear was the red flag. When the applause had subsided its bearer delivered a speech which explained that the red was the only logical and possible emblem of all nations.

The other flag bearers all had to give in before his argument and the red flag was declared victor.

If Julius Caesar Had Shopped at Macy's?

How to Make Your Grandchildren Independent!

If Julius Caesar had placed one dollar on deposit at interest, it would to-day take more money than there is in the world to pay his descendants.

If you place a sum on deposit at interest at Macy's now, it will go on earning interest, and interest on that interest, until your grandchildren will have a comfortable balance to their credit.

Benjamin Franklin said,

"It is not what you earn, but what you save, that makes you rich."

Macy's endorses this and adds what Ben Franklin forgot to say,

"It is not what you spend, but how you spend it, that makes you poor."

You have to spend in order to live, and the secret is to spend so that every dollar buys most.

Every Dollar Must Buy Most

Where do you suppose every dollar buys most—at the store that strives to give the longest credit, the most Trading Stamps or the best Concerts, or at the store that strives to give the Best Values?

Ask yourself where your dollar will go farthest—at the store that screams "special bargains" every day, or at the store that advertises values—regular Macy's values.

Go to the Circus Store for Circus; to the Bargain Store for Bargains and "seconds"—but come to Macy's for Macy Values. If you want to buy trading stamps, go to the store that gives them; but if you want to buy Values, fair and square, without tricks or subterfuge, come to Macy's.

If you open a Deposit Account at Macy's and buy on that Deposit Account, your spending will make you not poor but rich.

Open a Deposit Account at Macy's at once.

Deposit as much or as little as you please. The money will earn interest beginning not a week from now, nor a month from now, but—TO-DAY.

Buy on your Deposit Account at Macy's.

Buy on it regularly, systematically, invariably. Do not scatter your money. Concentrate it on the store where each dollar will buy most.

You will be surprised at how much the difference between 44c. and 50c.—in the little things; and the difference between $79.00 and $100.00—in the big things—will amount up to in a year.

10% of your total expenditure is the very least that you will save if you stop buying helter-skelter, here—there—and—everywhere, and buy only at Macy's.

We often advertise special values and reduced goods—to-day in one department, to-morrow in another. Of course we let you know of the accidents of trade; of the good fortune that we want you to share with us.

But we do not ask you to become a Macyite because of accidents of business. We DO ask you to become a Macyite because of a consistent policy that is the result of adherence to certain principles of business—the Macy principles. We do ask you to become a Macyite because of what Macy principles make possible:

The Best Values in the City—
Irrespective of Advertisements—Every Day in the Year.

Open a Deposit Account at Macy's.

Save! Save! Save!

The less you spend the better. But what you must spend, spend at Macy's.

A Deposit Account Earns

4% interest, compounded quarterly on your Deposit Account balance with us. 2% dividend on the net amount of your Deposit Account purchases, payable on or about December 10th of each year. This covers everything you buy except a very few patented articles on which there are legal restrictions; possibly a fraction of one per cent. of your requirements in a year.

Only Deposits intended for purchasing accepted. Accounts cannot be checked against. We do not banking business. Deposit Account Dept., Balcory, 34th St. side.

TWO NEWARK HOTELS RAIDED.

Early Sunday Morning Cabaret Shows Interrupted.

The details of detectives from the Prosecutor's office in Newark descended on the Hotel Navarre and the Hotel Broad in that city yesterday morning and raided both places over the heads of the police. The hotels are less than one hundred feet apart and police headquarters are just around the corner. The news of the raids came as a surprise to the police.

Many thoughtless were in the dining rooms of the hotels, where cabaret shows were going on, when the detectives entered. About forty men, women and girls, including attaches of the hotels, were taken into custody. The prisoners were hurried away in automobiles to the Court House, where Judge William F. Martin was sitting. He fixed bail on them as they came before him.

It is said that several girls of tender age were caught in the raid and were committed to the house of detention. Bail ranging from $5,000 to $25,000 was fixed against the hotel employees according to their position. The witnesses were held in $500 bail each.

GIRL, 14, LURED AND SLAIN.

Atlanta Detectives Believe Three Men Murdered Her.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 27.—Mary Phagan, 14 years old, was lured into the National Pencil factory, in the heart of the city, was attacked and then murdered last night.

Her body was lowered from the first floor through a cubbyhole into the basement. It was discovered at 5 o'clock this morning and was not identified until 10 o'clock. The identification was made by a girl chum.

New Lee, the negro watchman of the factory, is under arrest as a suspect, but the detectives do not believe that he committed the crime. The detectives think the girl was lured into the building and murdered by three young white men with whom she was seen Saturday night.

Two nearly illegible notes were found near the girl's body imputing the crime to the negro watchman, but the detectives suspect that the notes were written by the slayers.

The victim was first choked insensibility and then beaten on the head with a blunt instrument, presumably a lead pipe, which was found near her body. Two strips of her torn underclothing were found tied around her neck. The slayers evidently used this to lower her body into the basement. Her body had many bruises and cuts.

The girl was the daughter of Mrs. J. W. Coleman by her first marriage and had an excellent reputation. She left home Saturday afternoon to witness the memorial day parade and after that trace of her was practically lost until her body was found.

Dr. Krauskopf Lays Cornerstone.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—The cornerstone of the alumni building of the Keneseth Israel Temple was laid today by Rabbi Joseph Krauskopf. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by Rabbi Krauskopf in the temple.

265 Business Suits at $27.50

These are new suits, such as we would ordinarily sell for $32, $35 and $38. But we wanted some more suits to sell at $27.50—a previous offering at that price went so well. So we went to four of our better tailoring houses and put our purpose squarely before them. From one we got 56; from another 72; from another 84; from another 53. This old town has never seen their like at $27.50.

Three-button single-breasted, and 2-button double-breasted Poole model; conservatively cut coats with soft roll to second button; fine woolens in the various weaves, finishes and shades; hand-tailored, half or full lined. Sizes 34 to 48.

AWARD SUFFRAGE HAT PRIZES.

First Goes to Mrs. Henry Butterworth—New March Composed.

Prizes for the best trimmed hats to be worn in the suffrage parade next Saturday were awarded at the Woman's Political Union headquarters, 46 East Twenty-ninth street, yesterday.

Mrs. Edna Lithauer, whose hat was chosen by the judges, was the only stipulation being that the suffrage colors—purple, green and white—should be displayed prominently.

Carroll Beckwith and Irving Wiles, artists, judged. There were fifteen contestants. The first prize, a portrait sketch by Rosina Emmet Sherwood, went to Mrs. Henry Butterworth, whose white straw hat was adorned with a large bow of purple ribbons and a bunch of green apples.

Mrs. Cyrus W. Fieser won third prize, a suffrage scarf. Mrs. Fieser's hat was trimmed with rosettes and suffrage buttons.

It was announced yesterday that the paraders will stop Saturday to the tune of "The Parade March," written especially for the occasion by Mrs. Molly Stern Lithauer. The march is dedicated to Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch.

GILLETTE'S GOLD RAZOR TAKEN.

Former Employee in Hotel McAlpin Confesses to Stealing It.

George H. Gillette of Los Angeles, inventor of the safety razor bearing his name, awoke in his room at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday morning and made ready to shave when he discovered that his $200 gold mounted razor was gone.

He reported the theft to the hotel management and within a few hours Edward Smith, 23 years old, of 236 West Thirty-eighth street, who was formerly employed in the hotel, was arrested.

Smith not only confessed to stealing Mr. Gillette's razor but told Edward Hill, the house detective, that he had stolen a razor from another person in the hotel and that several young men had acted with him as accomplices. Mary Koines, a maid, gave Smith the key to Mr. Gillette's room, thinking he was still in the employ of the hotel.

Magistrate Herbert held him in $2,000 bail for a hearing on Tuesday.

TO DROP DARTMOUTH M. D.

Degree Will Not Be Given After Next Year.

HANOVER, N. H., April 27.—The trustees of Dartmouth College announced to-night that the last two years of instruction in the Dartmouth medical school will be suspended after the graduation of the present junior class in 1914.

The first two years in medicine of the present four years course will be reorganized into a department of the college and work in this department will be credited toward the requirements of a bachelor of science degree. It is planned to conduct the new department of the college so that Dartmouth students will be qualified to enter the third year of any graduate medical school. Dartmouth, however, will not grant any more degrees of doctor of medicine.
